5.10 TOUCH-UP PAINT

If scratches occur during handling and installation of painted trim, roofing and siding, it may be desirable to use touch-up paint to repair the blemishes. Surface scratches which are not obvious from a distance of six feet are generally best left untouched, since normal soiling and weathering will mask them.

Touch-up paint should be used sparingly and only to cover up areas where paint has been removed.

Areas to be touched up should be wiped with mineral spirits to remove dirt, wax and other contaminants then lightly sanded by using a 3M sanding block (medium grit) to roughen the painted surface adjacent to the scratched area before colored touch-up paint is applied.

Aerosol or spray applications are not recommended for blemish or scratch repairs. The best tool for this type of repair is a small brush.
